

CALL FOR MISSIONARY PHYSICIANS AND NURSES.

A recent letter from Dr. George C. Worth, of Kiangyin, China, contains this sentence: "Our three hospitals (of the Mid-China Mission) now have but one doctor for each and only one nurse for all three." Each of these hospitals is entitled to two doctors and at least one foreign trained nurse. Support for a trained nurse at the Elizabeth Blake Hospital in Soochow is provided by the China Medical Board of the Rockefeller Foundation. If these needed workers could be found the Executive Committee of Foreign Missions would not make the securing of their special support beforehand a condition of sending them out, but would send them out immediately. The requirement in the case of medical missionaries is that they should have taken the complete medical course at an approved medical school and at least one year of hospital training in addition. It is necessary that foreign trained nurses should be regular graduates and registered nurses. It is very desirable in every case that missionaries connected in any way with the medical work should have had a course of systematic Bible study to qualify them for the spiritual side of their work. Books

What Peace Means. By Dr. Henry Van Dyke. Publishers, Fleming H. Revell Co., New York. Price, 50 cents. This little volume contains three short sermons preached last Easter time by the author. To say that they are by Dr. Van Dyke is to say that the language and thought are chaste and beautiful. The thoughts, too, are just as helpful, as their help is needed in the storm-tossed world in which there seems to be so much of toil and trouble and strife.

Adventures in Alaska. By S. Hall Young. Publishers, Fleming H. Revell Co., New York. Price, $1.25. This is the third book by this author on Alaska, and is in some respects his best. He gives us most interesting sketches of this section of our country which is almost unknown to most people. He tells in a very interesting way of the trying experi-

THOUSANDS HAVE KIDNEY TROUBLE AND NEVER SUSPECT IT

Applicants for Insurance Often Rejected.

Judging from reports from druggists who are constantly in direct touch with the public, there is one preparation that has been very successful in overcoming these conditions. The mild and healing influence of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its remarkable record of success.

An examining physician for one of the prominent life insurance companies, in an interview of the subject, made the astonishing statement that one reason why so many applicants for insurance are rejected is because kidney trouble is so common to the American people, and the large majority of those whose applications are declined do not even suspect that they have the disease. Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is on sale at all drug stores in bottles of two sizes, medium and large.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention the Richmond Presbyterian of the South.

are few people in that frozen country except those who are hunting for gold. He takes us on long journeys with dog teams; he takes us out hunting the fierce brown bear, and on a long voyage with scientists and "movie" men as they hunt the walrus in the northern seas. There is a great deal of human nature of many kinds clearly pictured in these sketches. Dr. Young is a missionary and gives a bit of information now and then of his work. But his object in this book is not so much to show what has been done as it is to show the real condition of the country and its people, thereby showing the great need for workers who are willing to endure hardness in order to carry the gospel to the dwellers in this north country.

Morning Faces. By Rev. Georges McPerson Hunter. Publishers, George H. Doran Co., New York. Price $1.25. This book contains fifty-two excellent sermons to children. They cover a great many subjects and they are full of interesting stories. Mothers will find these sermons very helpful in teaching their children many great truths, for they will be sure to interest the children when read to them. The book will be a good Christmas present for children from eight to sixteen years of age, and older persons will enjoy and be helped in reading it.

That One Face. By Richard Roberts. Publishers, The Association Press, New York. Price $1.25. This is a small volume of Scripture readings, one for each day for twelve weeks. The purpose of the author is to present Jesus Christ in his true character as he conceives it. He also gives us the views of him as held by such men as Tennyson, Browning, Ruskin and others. The book shows a great deal of study and much insight. It will be found an excellent book for devotional reading.

If I Were You. By Rev. S. D. Chambers. Publishers, Fleming H. Revell Co., New York. Price $1.00. This is a volume of twenty-six sermons to children. They are based on words beginning with the letters of the alphabet. They are plain and simple and full of striking illustration, and will prove interesting to those who are able to read, and those too young to read will enjoy having them read to them. This book will prove very helpful to mothers and others in helping them to make Sunday attractive and helpful.

The Whirlwind. By Edna Worthley Underwood. Publishers, Small, Maynard & Co., Boston. Price $1.50. This is a story of Russian court intrigue about two hundred years ago. Catherine the Great is the leading character in the book. In the beginning the story moves slowly and the characters, with their queer Russian names are brought in with so little introduction, that it puzzles the reader to who is who. As the story advances, however, the characters stand out more clearly. For bloody political intrigue probably no court was ever more notorious, and the writer gives a vivid account of it. With such an ancestry it is not surprising that Russia of recent years has been overwhelmed with intrigue, revolution and crime.

The Church We Forgot. By P. Whitwell Wilson. Publishers, Fleming H. Revell Co., New York. Price $2.00. This book in general style is very much like one of the same author published a year or two ago. "The Christ We Forgot." This book presents the history and brings out very clearly the characteristics of the Christian Church as given in the Acts of the Apostles and in the Epistles. As one reads these pages he is irresistibly impelled to form a broader view and have a clearer conception of the church of the Apostles than he had before. The study of this book will throw much light upon the Book of Acts.

DEATHS

WILLIAM HENRY BURROUGHS. William Henry Burroughs was born in Princess Anne County, February 20, 1832. He studied under W. R. Galt in Norfolk and then went to Virginia Military Institute, and finished his education at William and Mary College. Prior to the War Between the States he practiced law in Southwest Virginia and in Tennessee. At the outbreak of the conflict he entered the Confederate service, rising to the rank of captain of artillery, in General Stevenson's Division. At the close of the war he came with his young wife to Norfolk, where he rose rapidly in his profession. In the late seventies he was judge of the Corporation Court of the City of Norfolk. He was an acknowledged authority on taxation, and was the author of "Burroughs on Taxation" and similar works.

As a citizen his life was without reproach and was a noble example to all who knew him.

He united with the First Presbyterian church in September, 1869, and in May, 1872, was ordained and installed ruling elder. Soon after he was made clerk of the session, an office which he held for almost forty years. In 1894 he was elected Moderator of the Presbytery of Norfolk. Thus for half a century he was a loyal and consistent member of the church, and a faithful and devoted elder. He died on Sunday, October 5, 1919.

The session of the church he served so long and so well desires to record its appreciation of the life of this brother beloved who has been called higher, and to tender to the bereaved family its Christian sympathy.

R. W. Santos,
Stuart N. Hutchison,
Committee of the Session.
